The Community Supervision Officer is responsible for supervising adult probationers sentenced to a term of Community Supervision and enforcing the Conditions of Supervision imposed by the Court. Duties include conducting evaluations, assessments, supervision planning, referral of probationers to various resources, and working with law enforcement agencies, criminal courts, and other agencies.

Essential Job Function:

The essential job function of the Community Supervision Officer is:

1. Perform all aspects of the Texas Risk Assessment System (TRAS) as mandated by the Midland CSCD and TDCJ-CJAD. This involves the completion of three complimentary but distinct job functions:
 - a. Conducting thorough and accurate assessments and reassessments utilizing the TRAS instrument;
 - b. Preparing a complete case plan that is based upon the most current TRAS assessment or reassessment;
 - c. Delivering cognitive-behavioral treatment in accordance with the supervision plan while enforcing the conditions of supervision; and,
 - d. Detailed documentation of case plan delivery in the day-to-day supervision of probationers.

Responsibilities and Tasks:

1. Supervises assigned probationers per Midland CSCD procedure, policy, and guidelines.
2. Ensures electronic data is correctly entered into the probationer database promptly.
3. Ensure the probationer understands the conditions of community supervision as ordered by the Court.
4. Conduct assessments to determine the probationer's risk and need and document the same.
5. Ensure that probationers assigned to your caseload are correctly categorized and supervised according to supervision level as directed by Midland CSCD policy and CJAD Standards.

6. Meet with probationers in individual sessions as dictated by the probationer's assessed risk and need, CJAD Standards, and CSCD policies.
7. Ensure computer files are always complete and up-to-date. Ensure confidentiality of information is guarded according to written guidance. Maintain medical and psychiatric records separate from the main case file.
8. Monitor new arrests by checking the Department's probationer database, reviewing local arrest logs, DPS notifications, criminal history checks at each office visit, and by any other methods that may be available.
9. Document all significant actions, decisions, services rendered, and periodic assessments in the probationer's computerized chronological record.
10. Ensure caseload compliance with CJAD Standards and CSCD policies.
11. Enforce individual conditions of community supervision for all probationers on caseload.
12. Address violations of the conditions of community supervision and failure to adhere to the supervision plan and determine appropriate action(s).
13. Prepare necessary documents about probationers as policy and procedures dictate.
14. Testify in court when the Court, Unit Supervisor, or Agency Director requires.
15. After staffing with Unit Supervisor, advise the Court of the Department's recommendations concerning using the continuum of sanctions or incarceration.
16. Monitor and assist in collecting court-ordered fines, court costs, restitution, supervision fees, and other penalties and fees imposed on the probationer by the Court.
17. Make home visits, work site inspections, or jail visits as required.
18. Perform other duties as assigned.
